

Slatefell

Thanks to Bob Barnby for the first event in the night series at Slatefell. You have probably seen that results have not yet been downloaded due to a missing piece of equipment, which will hopefully arrive soon. Results will be reported next week. Mapping Tech Session (From Pete Nelson) -Saturday 4th December, in the morning.

We're having a club session on using mapping software - both OCAD and the free Open Orienteering Mapper program. We've already got a mix of experienced and novice users signed up.

We can look at anything you like. The current outline plan is:

- Basic drawing: Points, lines, and curves
- Advanced drawing: following lines, filling in areas, cutting gaps etc
- Creating and using a base map and background maps
- Importing GPS data

Turning the finished survey into a competition map (if time)

You can come and just watch and listen, if you want. You'll get most out of it if you join in and do the exercises. For this, the minimum you'll need is OOM on your phone. A tablet (preferably with stylus) would be much better. Ideally you'd bring a laptop and mouse.

Data Conversion

If you've got data in a strange format, or it needs converting to something else, see Howard Leslie. He's offered to help with any data-related problems. Contact Pete Nelson if you want to join in.
